STATE LAWMAKERS MAY SLASH SCHOOL BUDGET

NEAR DR. HAAS GIVE DATA AS HEARINGS END

By LEONARD A. UNGER
Harrisburg (P) — Economy-minded lawmakers today looked to the commonwealth's half billion dollar education bill as a likely target for reducing state government costs.

Sen. John M. Walker (R-Allentown) said there was a possibility that local school districts may be asked to shoulder more of the cost of educating Pennsylvania's school children.

"There's a limit to which the state can go in aiding school districts," he said.

Walker made the statement after a 30-man legislative committee decided yesterday to discontinue further hearings on Chesterman Committee recommendations to save 100 million dollars by 1960 a state government operations.

Education was the subject of its third—and final—hearing. Dr. Francis B. Haas, superintendent of public instruction, said he could find no way to cut state costs for education except by shifting some of the burden to school districts.

Sen. James S. Berger (Potter), co-chairman of the GOP-dominated legislative committee, said "no useful purpose" could be served by continuing the public hearings.

The principal reason for the decision, he explained, was that members of the Chesterman Committee declined to be on hand to background their recommendations.

Haas, in testifying before the legislative group, said the "burden of proof" in substantiating the Chesterman report proposals lay with the committee—not with the public instruction department.

"I doubt whether you can reduce very much the present appropriations for education," he said. "Our primary responsibility is to provide a minimum education for our children whether it be done by the state or locally."

Harvey E. Gayman, executive director of the Pennsylvania State Education Association, took the position in behalf of his teachers' group that the Chesterman Committee failed to document its proposal for savings.

Alluding to a Chesterman recommendation to close half of the state's 14 teachers colleges, he said:

Subversive Acts of 22,000 Foreign-Born Folk Investigated

New York (P)—Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell Jr. says nearly 22,000 foreign-born residents of the United States are under investigation for possible Communist links.

He adds that they will be subject to eventual deportation "where evidence is found that they have violated our immigration and nationality laws."

The widening inquiries are part of a campaign to rid the nation of subversives, Brownell told the Society of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at a dinner last night.

"It's a job worthy of a modern-day St. Patrick to drive these snakes from our shores," the attorney general declared.

Brownell said that among those under scrutiny are nearly 10,000 naturalized citizens who "are believed to be or to have been engaged in subversive activities or presently to be or to have been members of, or affiliated with, the Communist party."

Another 12,000 being probed are aliens residing in the U. S., Brownell said.

At present, 280 Communist party leaders are under deportation orders, the attorney general asserted.

Stevenson Concludes His Tour of Korea

Seoul (P)—Adlai Stevenson ended a five-day tour of Korea today and said he was tremendously impressed "with the infinite difficulties that this cruel war presents."

The 1952 U. S. Democratic presidential nominee left for Japan after a tour of this war-ravaged nation, including a trip to the battlefield, where Communist mortar shells landed within a few hundred yards of him.

British Jets Collide During Show for Tito

JET-PROPELLED ANSWER TO REDS—U. S. F-86 Sabre-jets, above, appear for the first time on the flight line at Furstentofelbruck Air Base, near Munich, Germany. Piloted by veterans of the Korean war, they have already been on patrol under orders to return fire if attacked by Russian-built MIG 15's.

YUGOSLAV IS HORRIFIED AS 2 ARE KILLED

DUXFORD, England (P)—Two British jet fighters collided today before the horrified gaze of President Marshal Tito, killing both pilots.

Then the shaken Yugoslav leader, for the first time, saw and heard another jet crash the sound barrier.

Britain trotted out its hottest military aircraft for inspection by Tito, who is anxious to get similar planes for the Yugoslav air force.

The collision occurred during tight formation flying by Meteors. Twenty-four jets in all were involved. As four of the Meteors were changing position one ran into the tail of another. The wreckage fell six miles away from this Royal Air Force airfield in Cambridgeshire.

When the Meteors returned to land, Tito saluted the planes in tribute to the dead pilots.

The accident wiped the marshal's usual wide smile from his face. He leaped up in horror as the planes came together. Later he was pale and disturbed as he entered the officers' mess for a pre-arranged luncheon.

A RAF officer said that before the flying began Tito twice had asked to cancel the display because of the weather. After the crash he turned to Lord Tedder, marshal of the RAF, and said: "Please, do not have any more."

But Squadron Leader Neville Duke—one of Britain's hottest, best known pilots—already had taken up a gleaming Hawker Hunter into the heavy overcast.

Then Duke came roaring down. As his engines screamed he pushed past the speed of sound. Tito who had started for his car thinking the display was over, stopped and looked up. Three sharp bangs and a whine signalled that Duke had broken the barrier again.

The Yugoslav government chief and his foreign minister, Koca Popovic, had a two-hour conference with Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden last night at the British Prime Minister's heavily guarded residence at No. 10 Downing St.

Three Reappointed To Welfare Board

Reappointment of Mrs. Margie Finlan of Youngsville, Rev. E. J. Jacobs of Tidoute, and Floyd C. Carter as members of the Warren County Board of Assistance, was confirmed by the Senate in Harrisburg, Tuesday.

Other members of the Board are F. M. Ludwick of Lander, Otto F. Mayer of Sheffield, Mrs. Arlene Whitehill of North Warren, and John Wendell of Warren.

Mr. Carter is chairman of the Board and Mrs. Finlan is the secretary.

Musmanno Continues Bribery Case Fight

Pittsburgh (P)—Justice Michael A. Musmanno of the Pennsylvania Supreme Court fought on today to clear himself of a criminal charge of hindering a witness.

Minutes after an alderman ordered him held for the grand jury yesterday on the charge, Musmanno began a series of legal moves to test the proceedings.

He refused an offer of Alderman Thomas G. Davis to release him on his own recognizance and demanded that Davis throw out the charge for lack of evidence or set bail. The alderman fixed bond at $300, which Musmanno did not post.

House of Lords Gets British Steel Change

London (P)—The Conservative government's bill to repeal the previous Labor regime's nationalization of the steel industry won House of Commons approval last night and was sent to the House of Lords for final action. Little effective opposition was expected in that predominantly Conservative body.

TROOP CENTER IS DESTROYED IN AIR ATTACK

Tokyo (P)—Lt. David W. Edwards, Franklin, Pa., was a bombardier on one of the American B29 Superfortresses which took part in the 27 plane strike last night and early today at Fungha, North Korea.

Crewmen said a supply, troop and factory complex "went up at once, as though someone had spilled gunpowder over the area and then lit it."

Lt. Edwards said, "we ran in to a continuous 40 mile flak barrage. I counted one battery after another. The flak started 20 miles before our bombs were away, and kept with us until we were out of the area."

Seoul, March 18—(P)—American B29 Superfortresses virtually wiped out the Communist supply and troop center of Fungha on Manchuria's southern outskirts today in the fourth largest bomber strike of the Korean War.

On the ground, Dutch and South Korean troops teamed up to smash Chinese attacks on two advanced positions in the western sector northeast of Yonchon.

Behind the line, four unidentified aircraft strafed positions on the Eastern Front. The Eighth Army reported there were no casualties but that one truck was damaged. Later today the Air Force said it was conducting an investigation.

Twenty-seven Okinawa-based Superfortresses which bombed Fungha's 230 wooden buildings plowed through 40 miles of flak and braved night fighters to reach their target. Another 13 hit Red lines.

One airman said the Communist supply, troop and factory complex at Fungha "went up at once, as though someone had spilled gunpowder over the area and lit it." It was the first time the Fungha site had been hit. It is three miles southeast of Sinuiju in Northwest Korea. It was so close to Manchuria that Red anti-aircraft guns inside China fired on the B29s.

Off the Korean east coast three American seamen were injured by shore guns answering the fire of the destroyers Tausig and Keys and raking the tiny minesweeper Gull. One man was hurt on the Tausig and two on the Gull.

The shore fire came while the destroyers were bombarding targets of opportunity along the main north-south railroad line.

Ask Punishment For Russian Flyer Who Fired at Plane

Washington (P)—The United States today demanded that Russia discipline the Soviet jet fighter who attacked a U. S. weather reconnaissance plane last Sunday 25 miles off Kamchatka.

The State Department announced a protest has been delivered to the Moscow Foreign Office by the American Embassy.

The note asks measures to prevent a repetition of such an attack and "disciplinary action" against those responsible for Sunday's incident.

The Air Force announced yesterday that the American B50 bomber flying out of Alaska, was trailed by two Soviet MIG-15s and that one Russian plane opened fire on it. The B50 returned fire and the Soviet plane did not press the attack.

The exchange apparently did no damage to either plane.

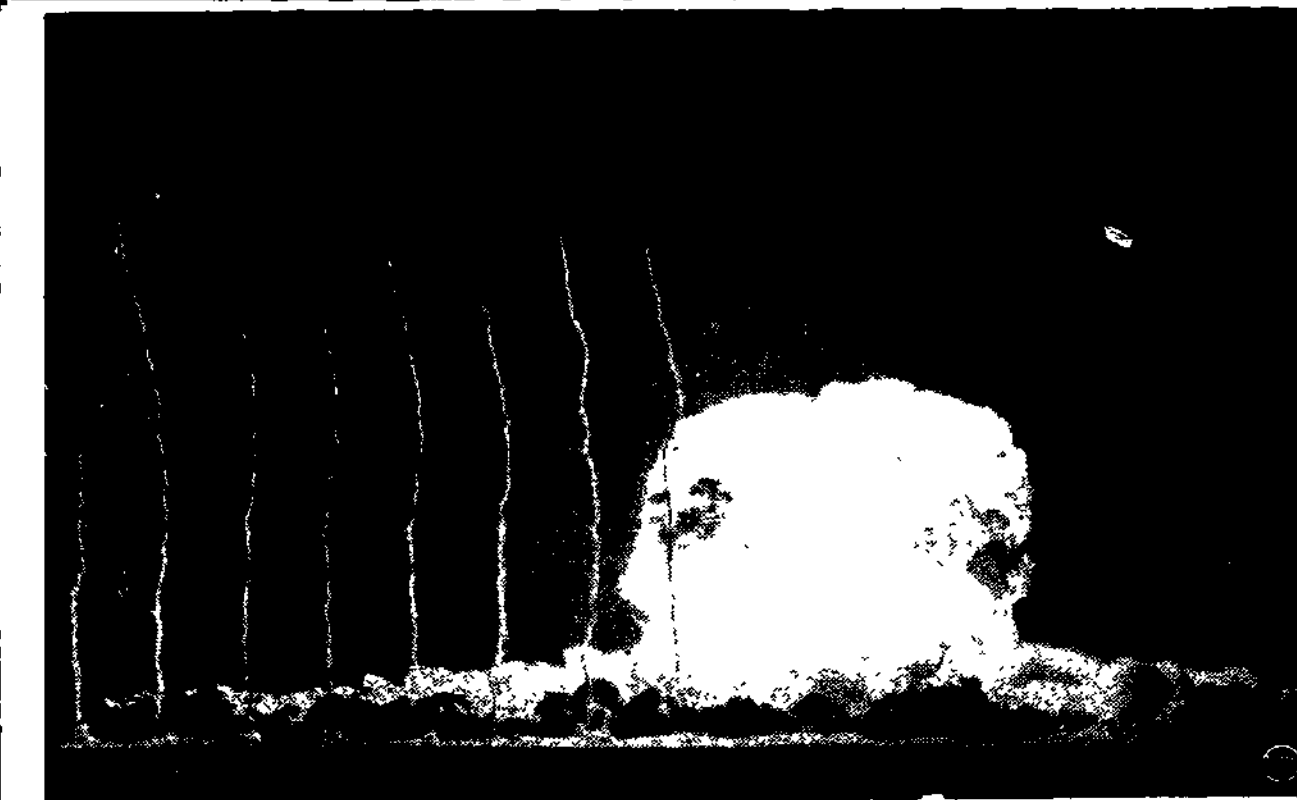

The State Department announced the substance of the protest, but the text of the note was not made public for the time being.

Price Control Cases Will be Prosecuted

Washington (P)—Price control is ended but its enforcement lingers on.

The Office of Price Stabilization, which abolished the last remaining ceilings yesterday, said today it intends to press compliance cases against 5,350 alleged violators of the ceilings while they were in effect.

Administrator Joseph H. Freehill told reporters 850 civil damage suits are pending in courts for some eight million dollars in overcharges.

Cut of 4 Billions in Truman Estimate To Balance Budget

Washington (P)—Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) said today a four billion dollar cut in former President Truman's spending estimates may be enough to balance the federal budget in the year beginning July 1.

Taft, the Senate Republican leader, said in an interview he believes that from 1 1/2 to 2 billion dollars can be whacked off the cost of civilian activities but the remainder will have to come off the military program.

His budget-balancing estimates are much lower than those previously made by other congressional leaders.

Truman estimated that during the fiscal year the government will pay out $78,600,000,000, about 10 billion more than expected revenues. But Taft said he doubts expenditures will rise much, if any, above the present annual rate of about 72 billion.

Taft said if that 72 billion level can be taken as a starting point and if spending can be cut four billions below that, it would balance the budget.

Vandals Smear Paint During Night at WHS

Warren Borough Police today are investigating an act of vandalism that occurred at Warren High School between 10:00 o'clock last night and the early hours of this morning.

According to school officials this morning, the pranksters broke into the building and, locating a quantity of the school's paint, proceeded to decorate lockers, walls, floors and doors. Their depredation was practically erased by the janitorial staff before classes started this morning.

Police said entrance was made some time after 10:00 o'clock when the janitor went off duty.

Veide Awaits Action On Confidence Vote

Washington (P)—Rep. Veide (R-Ill.) today awaited word from the House Rules Committee to open the way for him to seek a vote of confidence as chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee.

He told newsmen he has the promise of Chairman Leo Allen (R-Ill.) of the rules group that his "personal request" for clearance of an ouster resolution will be considered.

FROSTBITE VICTIMS

Tokyo (P)—The Army today said combat veterans hospitalized by frostbite suffered in the bitter winters of the Korean War now are eligible for the $45-a-month combat duty pay for time spent in recovery along with soldiers wounded or injured in action.

Two flocks of geese flew over the southwest part of Warren county Tuesday, one about noon and the other about four p. m., according to residents of the area.

ALLEGED ASSAULT

Police were called to Pennsylvania avenue, east, yesterday afternoon when a lady there complained about being struck by a man. After hearing her story, police advised her to appear before a Justice of the Peace and secure a warrant for the arrest of her assailant.

MOON HAS COMPANY

The moon, a silver crescent in the western sky early Tuesday evening, had company, according to sky observers. A bright star twinkled about three crescent lengths away to the north as the moon reclined lazily on its rim. The two appeared to be close together but as one person said "I'd hate to have to walk the distance between them."

EMPTY NITRO CANS

The hard thud of an explosion heard toward the Enterprise area Tuesday about 1:30 p. m., according to the Titusville Herald, was caused when Overt Fitch, of the Otto Cuper Co., blew up several nitroglycerine cans which were found to be "leakers". The empties were placed back in the woods in a safety area and touched off with a stick of dynamite. The resulting blast was heard over quite a wide area.

TO HUNTINGDON

James Hook, 23, of Chancellors Valley, was taken yesterday by Deputy Sheriff Sandy Secor to Huntingdon Reformatory where he will begin an indeterminate sentence as the result of larcenies committed in his home neighborhood. The sentence was imposed on Hook by Judge Allison D. Wade after Hook was examined at Warren State Hospital and found sane, although mentally retarded.

OVEN EXPLODES

Mrs. Gretchen Williams, Clarendon RD 1, was given emergency treatment at Warren General Hospital yesterday when the oven in the kitchen range at her home exploded from an accumulation of gas. She was not burned seriously and was discharged after dressings were applied. Other emergency cases include Howard Green, also of Clarendon RD 1, who was treated for a dog bite on the lower left leg; and Pauline Craker, Sugar Grove, employed at the G. G. Greene No. 2 plant, who received a splinter in the tip of her left index finger. Both were discharged after treatment.

Corry Area School Contract Awarded Firm in Falconer

Members of the Joint Committee, representing taxpayers in Corry, Spring Creek, Columbus, Elgin and Wayne and Concord townships in Erie County, on Monday agreed upon awarding the contract for construction of the new joint junior-senior high school to the L. H. Ludwig and Co., Inc., of Falconer with the over-all cost of the structure set at $2,305,867. Actually, the action by the school directors was in the form of a recommendation that the Authority let the contract to Ludwig. However, their recommendation is tantamount to awarding the job to the Falconer firm.

The aggregate amount of the bids along with all other costs involved is a full $50,000 more than was set up in the original application which was approved by Department of Education officials in Harrisburg.

Based on market values on property in the six school districts the areas will be sharing in the rental payments each year to the Authority on the following percentage basis: Corry, 74.42; Columbus, 8.05; Wayne, 6.89; Spring Creek, 4.84; Concord, 4.68; Elgin, 1.09.

These payments will be reimbursed by the state in line with the following percentages: Corry, .5367; Columbus, .7658; Wayne, .7042; Spring Creek, .7286; Concord, .8085; Elgin, .7409. If the Authority approves the recommendations made by the Joint Committee the building project will be sent to Harrisburg for action by state officials and a decision on what items in the building for which the state will not reimburse the districts.

Bradford Is Loser, Sharpsville Plays Meadville Tonight

Meadville High, defending District 10 titlist and winner of Section Two, will attempt to snap Sharpsville's 25-1 23 game winning streak at New Wilmington tonight. The Bulldogs of Coach John Joy boast at 19-4 season record.

Last year Meadville took a one-point decision an 11th year before it was Sharpsville over Meadville by the same count.

In last night's initial inter-district Class A playoffs for the 1953 Pennsylvania schoolboy crown Pittsburgh Westinghouse copped a 56 to 55 decision over Bradford, District Nine titleholder, and Old Forge outclassed Coal Twp 71-42. Westinghouse was District Eight champion.

Besides the Meadville-Sharpsville fracas in Class A competition tonight, Berlin (District 5) vs. Johnstown (District 6) at Somerset; and Yeading (District 1) vs. Harrisburg John Harris (District 3) at Philadelphia.

THE GREAT DIE AS DO THE SMALL: EULOGY TO A DOG

GENTLEMEN OF THE JURY: The best friend a man has in this world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has he may lose. It flies away from him perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us, may be the first to throw stones of malice when failure settles its cloud upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous is his dog.

Gentlemen of the jury, a man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fierce, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come from encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wing and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens.

If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than of his company to guard against danger to fight against his enemies. And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by his graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death.

An unexpected visit from a huge twin-engine Douglas DC-3 airliner soon after noon Monday after it had circled the town a couple times, made folks of the community "airport minded" for the first time in many months. Fired by report that the huge craft had made an emergency landing, scores of curious citizens raced to the field, some of them coming from as far away as Sheffield and Sugar Grove. The most interesting factor in the situation, however, is that the incident demonstrates that the field is amply large and sufficiently equipped to accommodate such planes when in the hands of capable pilots. It would be well for aviation in Warren to have more such visits.

Regret over news that Nevin C. Wolfe, manager of the Metzger-Wright store for the past three years, is being transferred back to Indiana, Pa., is tempered by realization of the fact that the change is in the form of an advancement. Since coming to Warren Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe have made many friends who wish them success and happiness in their new assignment where they will find scores of acquaintances waiting to welcome them back. Before coming here Mr. Wolfe was assistant manager of the store which he now takes over as manager.

Spiritual Diary for Lent

Behold, I stand at the door, and knock—Revelation 3:20

Today's Message

Think of the mind of God as brooding in these days over the minds of men. He has such a time with us, for He will not force His way in. "Behold," He says, "I stand at the door and knock." It is a strange appeal in a day when the doors of human personality are battered down. Dictators' henchmen say to the people: "Have this mind in you which is also in our leader. And there we live it—or appear to have it—and the dictator is satisfied. But God just stands at the door and knocks, for He seeks not an outward allegiance but a willing devotion."

Many a time the door is unanswered. We're in the cellar perhaps, or we peep through the window to see who's there and decide we're not "at home." Or we open the door and then flinch and shut while He's trying to tell us His story. But the unanswerable God is brooding over the minds of men, knocking, seeking from them a willing devotion.

Here And There

In connection with our reminder Tuesday of the memorable record snow storm of March 17, 1936, it is interesting to recall that 17 years ago this evening Company I, 112th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, was mobilized for emergency flood duty at Johnstown.

Orders to mobilize received about 7:30 o'clock in the evening, directed the unit to assemble and leave as soon as possible for the Johnstown flood district.

In the absence of Lieut. Roy Miskimon, first officer in charge, due to the resignation of Capt. Charles G. Pearson, Lieut. William Tingwall had charge of the preliminary work after the mobilization order was received. Lieut. Miskimon made a hurried trip from his home in Tidoute to find the Army in a bustle of excitement.

The fire bell had been sounded for some time and the resulting inquiries received aided in getting word to members of Company I. Bulletins were posted about the business section, squads were sent to homes of guardsmen who could not be reached by phone. The police car in charge of Capt. Eckhardt was pressed into service and announcements were made from the stage at the Library theatre. Word was sent to Sheffield, Youngsville, Sugar Grove, Russell and other nearby towns where many of the guardsmen reside, and by ten o'clock over fifty of the boys were reported.

Soon the Army was alive with khaki-clad youngsters. Wives, mothers and sweethearts of the soldiers soon gathered in and about the Army, with small groups of interested citizens anxious to be of service.

The mobilization order contained no provision for "mess" for the company before leaving, and hot coffee, sandwiches of cold meat and hot weiners, sliced bread, rolls, doughnuts, cakes, sugar, cream and coffee, along with cigars were provided through the courtesy of Patchens' Market, Geracimos Confectionery store, Texas Lunch and the Warren Baking Company. The lunch was served in the kitchen of the Army about an hour before the Company embarked on West Ridge buses for Johnstown. Equipment was taken to the flood district in three State Highway Department trucks. Assistance of the Highway Patrol was secured in learning condition of the roads as far as Butler where additional information was to be furnished the caravan.

Television, which got its fingers cracked after last year's Easter fashion parade along New York's Fifth Avenue, has promised to do different when it goes back to the famous street next April 5. This time, it's said there'll be none of the over-commercialism which critics and others complained about in 1952. Neither will there be any street spectacles bordering on the maudlin. Advance notices about network plans indicate interviews will be conducted mostly off the street at a close by hotel or from an overlooking roof garden. Street pickups will be in keeping with the occasion. The pictures are to go coast to coast.

GOP Sees Budget Balancing Vital to American Security

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Six weeks' experience as bureaucrats has been a liberal education for the big businessmen who are now working for Uncle Sam for the first time.

One thing that has impressed them most is the relation of foreign policy to what goes on in this country.

It determines what the tax rate of the United States will be. It determines how much of America's supply of raw materials will be channeled up in manufacture of arms. And it determines how many men will work in the factories of Pittsburgh, Cleveland or Detroit—and what it is they will be making for a considerable period of time.

From the point of view of the business executive in government, the United States now faces two main problems.

In front of them, the people of the civilized western world have the threat of enemies with knives at their throats. Something must be done to ward off this attack.

This means spending more than the western countries can afford for national defense. If this money is spent, and, by higher taxation and borrowing, the economy of the non-Communist world is ruined, affairs may be no better off than they would be if the men with the knives were allowed to attack.

SO a decision has to be made on what course to follow. How much of a strain can the economy of the United States stand? It has stood the strain of heavy taxation for defense in the last two years very well. It could stand this strain for a few more years without undue hardship on anyone.

But if this defense posture has to be maintained for 25 years or so, what will be left?

The inflation that invariably accompanies a period of rearmament and war is sized up as an extremely dangerous thing. It begins easy, and everybody likes it. But it always gets worse and it leads to the eventual ruin of many people.

This has led President Eisenhower's administration to the conclusion that the federal government budget must be balanced, and a start must be made on reduction of the $260 billion government debt.

It is now realized this isn't going to be easy. It is going to mean sacrifices for everyone. The frills and luxuries of government operation which everyone has become accustomed to will have to be curtailed.

THE best thing to do—that is, the most popular—is not necessarily the wisest thing to do for the long haul. For the future course of government operations it raises the possibility that all-out social security programs and 100 per cent government parity payments for farmers—while nice and no doubt desirable—may have to be postponed.

There are no firm decisions on these matters or any of the other 64-billion-dollars worth of questions that still face the Eisenhower administration. The new leaders say frankly that they don't know the answers, yet.

May 1 now appears the closest date on which some of the answers may be expected. Revised estimates on the Truman budget for the next fiscal year won't be ready till some time in April. The North Atlantic Treaty Council meets at the end of April, and the foreign aid program can't be sized up till then.

For Congress this poses a terrific problem. It means that the Eisenhower fiscal program for next year must be enacted in two months. If Congress carries out its plan to adjourn by July 1, that would mean putting off the constructive part of the Eisenhower program for a second session of Congress next fall.

Letters to the Editor

Mr. Ed. C. Lowrey,
City.

Dear Mr. Editor:

The series of articles in The Times-Mirror about the "Dream Highway" have been read with interest by one who believes it is one of the most beautiful drives in the world. Having driven from the Atlantic to the Pacific I have seen no other highway to surpass it in quiet beauty.

Did not the French, the first Europeans to come into this part of the world, call the Allegheny, Le Belle Riviere, the beautiful river? Having driven down both of its shores, fished in its eddies, canoed as far down as President, explored its contributing trout streams and hunted over its hill-sides, I agree with the French: it is indeed La Belle Riviere.

Therefore I've been reading Mr. Sage's articles with much interest and am thankful for their printing in the Times-Mirror.

Cordially yours,

A. B. McCORMICK

Women of Moose Enjoy Visit With Jamestown Group

Members of Warren Chapter 103, Women of the Moose, spent a very enjoyable Sunday, March 15, when Jamestown Chapter No. 87 observed Friendship Day, with Chairman Gladys Peterson in charge of festivities.

Brunch was served from 12:30 until 1:30 p. m., followed by the meeting at 2:00. The chairman extended the welcome to visiting chapters and other guests, of which there were a large number in attendance, while greetings from the Jamestown Moose Lodge were expressed by Governor Harold Carlson.

Senior Regent Donna Johnson, of the hostess chapter, opened the meeting, assisted by her escorts and chairmen, and the Jamestown Chapter was also in charge of balloting on candidates. Mrs. Johnson, in turn, presented the gavel to Senior Regent Ellen Farley, of Westfield Chapter, who, with her members conducted initiation of the large class. Westfield was also in charge of the Endowment Fund ceremony.

Concluding, the gavel was presented to Senior Regent Maud Eckland, of Warren Chapter, for the closing exercises, her officers lending able assistance.

Among the special guests were College of Regents members, Gertrude Simmons and Theresa Brown of Jamestown, Mable Mattison of Warren.

The Academy of Friendship remembered Senior Regent Donna Johnson with a gift, which was presented by the friendship chairman, Gladys Peterson, and all candidates and senior regents were remembered by the Jamestown Chapter with corsages in the St. Patrick's motif.

Following a delicious chicken dinner, entertainment was offered by the Luce Dancing School of Jamestown, and the remainder of the evening was enjoyed with dancing.

Oratorio Follows Years of Tradition

At four o'clock Palm Sunday afternoon, when Carroll A. Fowler, director-organist of First Presbyterian church, presents an augmented choir in portions of "The Messiah", he will be following a tradition of some 200 years.

Since its first appearance on April 13, 1742, in Dublin, Ireland, this Handel work has been performed more steadily and frequently than any other choral theme in existence.

George Friedrich Handel, born in Germany, spent most of his adult life in England, first as a composer of Italian opera, which he later abandoned for oratorios.

Despite his occasional bankruptcies, he was a keen business man, who sensed that British patrons were bored with imported singers, singing in a foreign tongue: they wanted English music set to English words.

Thus, at the age of 47, Handel discovered that opera could never express his own feelings, no theme was commensurate with the grandeur of his conceptions. Charles Jennens, loyal friend and librettist, sought actual passages from the Bible as a text for this composition already forming in the mind of Handel.

The nobility of Ireland, well aware that he hadn't been appreciated in London, issued an invitation for the composer to pre-

Here Are Ways to Overcome Down-in-the-Dumps Feeling

ARE you bored, lonely, hurt, or unhappy?

If those words sum up your feeling today you aren't alone in your misery. Most people have days when they feel sorry for themselves.

But that only makes them feel worse. So don't give in to self-pity. Instead do something for yourself. Something that you'll be bound to enjoy in spite of your troubles. And once you start enjoying what you are doing, you'll forget that you have a right to feel blue.

What can this something be?

That depends on you. If you like gardening buy yourself some plants to set out in the yard, something that is blooming right now. If you can't do that get a potted flower in full bloom for your kitchen window.

If being with others cheers you up, invite a friend or two for lunch. Or arrange to go shopping with a friend.

DO SOMETHING TO KEEP YOU BUSY

If accomplishing something gives you a lift, get out the material for that dress you've been meaning to make for a month. Cut into it and get going.

If you get real pleasure out of reading, give the house a lick and a promise and settle down with a book. Don't worry about being lazy. Playing hooky now and then is good for a grownup.

"That's all very well" you may be thinking, "but what are you going to do if there are small children you've got to look after?"

You can figure out something to do if it is just inviting a neighbor over for coffee.

The main thing is to do something for yourself. Why will that lift you out of the doldrums? Because you can pity yourself while you are slaving away for others or while you are brooding over your lot in life.

But you can't feel sorry for yourself when you are busy doing something for the important reason that you want to do it.

sent some sacred music in their cities. Now was his opportunity to prove to the world his abilities and, from discouragement and rejection, began the mighty score of this sacred oratorio.

Many Activities Are Considered By Lacy PTAMembers

Lacy PTA meeting was well attended last evening, when the program subject, "Mental and Physical Fitness," was vividly emphasized in an informative talk by Dr. L. J. Borger and an interesting film, "Willie and the Mouse".

An enjoyable musical number was "Triad," played by a trumpet trio composed of Lewis Garber, Dick Crane and Bob Koebly, accompanied by Margaret Eaton.

Room awards were won by Mrs. Howard Smith's first grade and for the most fathers present, Miss Lauretta Dunkle's second grade.

The meeting was conducted by the Lacy president, Mrs. John Lauffenberger, with devotional poems from "The Pennsylvania Parent-Teacher" read by Mrs. Fred Simpson. Rev. Paul Ackert, Pittsburgh, formerly of Warren, led in prayer and all joined in the flag salute.

Routine business included special reports given by the Boy Scout institutional representative, John Truitt. He reviewed activities of Lacy Scout and Explorer Troop 11, recounting their good times under the capable guidance of the Shine Brothers, Philip Reynolds and Richard Hedman. He stated, also, the boys have sold around $850 worth of candy, an outstanding achievement for the 22 boys of the two troops, with 40% of the proceeds to be retained by the troop to provide summer camping for its boys.

Mrs. J. Senger reported as Lacy delegate on the recent Community PTA Council meeting; Mrs. Clifford Barlight for the recent discussion meeting of kindergarten mothers with Miss Jane Masters; Mrs. John Andrews for the third grade discussion attended by teachers, Miss Marie Gaghan and Miss Ellen Thoreson.

Attention was drawn to the beautiful fluorescent lights being installed in all the rooms of the Lacy building.

Mrs. Norman A. Johnson, Miss Elizabeth VanLuvane and Mrs. John Andrews were elected as a nominating committee. Attention was called, also, to a window display at the Warren Water Company office, prepared by Girl Scout District One; the Cub Pack meeting on Thursday, March 26; and next month's PTA meeting, when the topic will be "Recreation and Social Development".

To conclude, refreshments in keeping with St. Patrick's Day were furnished by mothers of fourth grades taught by Miss Frances Peterson and Miss Clementine Weaver, with Mrs. R. B. Brown as chairman.

AUXILIARY SALE
Russell—Members of the Fire Department Auxiliary, holding a rummage sale in the fire hall all day Friday and on Saturday of this week, remind that those who have contributions to be collected should call Mrs. Gerald Hale.

BAPTIST MOTHERS

Mrs. Alfred Lauffenberger presided at the regular meeting of the First Baptist Mothers Club, held at the church. After routine reports had been presented and approved, the club made plans for its annual dinner-meeting in April.

Speaker for the evening was Dr. Yu, psychiatrist at Warren State Hospital. He drew some interesting comparisons between life in China and in the United States, stressing particularly the methods of disciplining children. He very graciously answered questions asked him by the group.

To conclude, refreshments were served by the following committee: Mrs. Curtis Goodwin, Mrs. William Pearson, Mrs. George Niederer and Mrs. Franklin Farrell.

EUB LADIES AID

Ladies Aid members of First Evangelical United Brethren church will hold their regular meeting in the Folkman parlors Thursday afternoon, starting promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The topic, "Compassion," will be led by Mrs. H. E. Farrell; hostesses will be Mrs. Jessie Kinney and Mrs. Gladys Swanson. All members are urged to be in attendance and friends are always welcome. Those who have not paid their money for pictures are urged to do so at this time.

TODAY IS DOUBLE ANNIVERSARY OCCASION

Barnes—Congratulations are being extended to Mr. and Mrs. John Burns, who are celebrating their 39th wedding anniversary today. Their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carlson of Wolf Run, were married 17 years ago today and the two couples plan to meet in Kane for dinner and a show.

DORCAS SOCIETY

Dorcas Society members of Grace Methodist church will hold their regular meeting in the League room at 6:00 p. m. Thursday and all are asked to be in attendance.

Many Groups Are Responsible For Style Show Plans

Gathered From The Party Line

Publicity for the Warren High School Stenographers Club Style Show, in the high school auditorium tomorrow evening at 8:15, has included several morning announcements of various types over public address system at the dining of the school day. Rosine Kondak has been chairman of this project.

Elaine Middaugh has been in charge of all advertising on the school boards at school. Students in commercial art class, taught by Mrs. Gerda Lawrence, are responsible for the many posters on play both in the school and out town.

Constance Samuelson and Josephine Hessler have prepared the news releases for the newspapers and the radio.

Members of the Stenographers Club on the properties committee are Jean Harman, Irene Hedges, Laura Lee, Greta Lindquist, Bonnie Matha, Elizabeth Simko, Jean Miller, and the chairman, Jean Stefano.

Barbara Blech and Marianne Dover, business managers, report tickets are still available and may be purchased from any member of the Stenographers Club.

BEREAN CLASS

Berean Church members of First Baptist Church will be entertained 8:00 p. m. Friday at the home of Mrs. Ella Hinner. Miss Pearl and will be the special speaker.

GREAT BOOKS GROUP

The regular session of the Great Books Group will be held in Warren Public Library at 7:30 p. m. Thursday. Members are reminded to read for this gathering will be "The Prince" by Machiavelli.

The Spaniards set up public schools in New Mexico in 1721.

Piles—Get

Relief Now

Millions of sufferers in the last years have found a way to fast relief from itching smarting piles. They use a delightful cooling soothing astringent formula—Peterson's Ointment. No wonder one sufferer writes, "The itching and smarting were relieved, and I slept all night. Peterson's Ointment is marvelous." 40¢ per tube. Be delighted or money back.

Local Women Hurt In Accident Near Corydon

Two Warren women were admitted at Bradford Hospital Monday evening as the result of a one-car accident on Route 346 near Corydon, according to word from Bradford. They are Mrs. Nera D. Albaugh, 507 West street, and Mrs. Grace Donald, also of Warren, both employees of the Bell Telephone Company.

According to Police Chief Glenn Reminger, of Bradford township, their car struck a patch of ice, went out of control and leaped a 15-foot gully and smashed into a tree. Mrs. Albaugh was badly shaken up but suffered no apparent injuries. Mrs. Donald sustained lacerations of the right hand and possible chest injuries. Their condition was reported as good.

In company with the two local women were Mrs. Lorraine McKim, of Meadville, who sustained chest and shoulder injuries; and Mrs. Anna Carlson, of DuBois, hospitalized with chest injuries.

The four women were en route to the Hotel Emery and had been attending a company meeting there.

Identifying Pipeline Markers To Be Changed

The underground network of pipelines which supply natural gas to this and surrounding communities will receive new identifying marker signs this year.

Guy O. McKinley, manager here for The Manufacturers Light and Heat Company, said the orange and blue markers will be installed at all major and secondary road crossings.

They will mark the position of the pipelines for contractors and road crews, and also speed gas company workmen in pin-pointing line routes when repairs are needed.

Mr. McKinley said the new markers will be installed on manufacturers' 4367 miles of transmission, or cross-country, pipelines, and to a lesser extent on some distribution mains.

Present plans call for the placement of 2,000 signs, some of which have already been installed. Work in this area is being supervised by Division Superintendent E. R. Truman.

KIWANIS MEETING

Youngsville Kiwanians last evening held a roundtable discussion at the Youngsville Legion home in place of their regular dinner meeting, and settled several matters of business. A new Kiwanis banner will be purchased, three by five feet in size, to replace the original one which was damaged. Willys Johnson and L. L. Johnson were appointed a committee to investigate the possible purchase of entrance signs along the roads leading into Youngsville. The signs to tell of the place and time of Kiwanis meetings for the convenience of members of the organization stopping over in Youngsville.

OBITUARIES

BESTMAN HODGES

Services in memory of Bertram Hodges, 705 1/2 Fourth avenue, were held at 2:00 p. m. Tuesday at the Peterson Funeral Home, conducted by the Rev. Beecher M. Rutledge, rector of Trinity Memorial church. Interment was made in Oakland cemetery, with the following serving as bearers: N. B. Gaynor, Raymond Hodges, Joseph and Frank Haumesser.

Present from away were Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Gaynor, Mrs. Seward French, Joseph Haumesser, Sheffield; Mrs. A. E. Hazeltine, Mrs. Robert Hazeltine, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Haumesser, Westfield, N. Y.; Raymond Hodges, Cleveland.

MRS. NELLIE KASPER

Corry Journal: The Solemn Requiem Mass for Mrs. Nellie Kasper was sung Monday morning at 10 o'clock at St. Elizabeth's Church. Rev. Cyril Kronz, rector, was the celebrant. Rev. John DeSanti was deacon and Rev. Lawrence Tremblay of Union City, sub deacon.

Members of the Polish National Alliance serving as bearers were Jacob Royak, John Ponder, Martin Kuss, Frank Kuss, Eugene Dombrowski, Joseph Wawrejko and Martin Hubay. Interment took place in the family lot in the church cemetery.

Those from away for the Mass were the following: Dr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gahring, David, Joseph, Arnold, Alice, Mary Ann, John and Paul Gahring, and Miss Mary Edwards, Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mazgay, Walter Bober and Leo Mazgay, Caldwell, Ohio; and Mrs. Harry Slomski, Erie.

SHADE TIPTON

(Written for the Times-Mirror) Services in memory of Shade Tipton, East Hickory, were held at his home at 2:00 p. m. March 6, the Rev. John McCleery, of Tidouste officiating. Interment was made in McKean cemetery, Limestone township, beside his small son, Kenneth Dewey, who died September 2, 1918, at the age of two years and five months. Serving as bearers were Lester Moore, Ace Goodwill, Alton Hall, Glen Klinevister, John Michalegko and Ray LaShure; and driving flower cars were Carl Morrison, Ira Range, Mr. Bean, Ray LaShure, Lester Moore, Ronald Carpenter, Clem Dasiuner and Clifford Dashiuer.

Mr. Tipton was born on Kelley Hill on March 1, 1875, the son of Joseph and Julia Post Tipton, and was married December 23, 1911, to Amanda Hannah of Gilroy, a lifelong resident of Warren and Forest counties, he was retired by the United Natural Gas Company from the field at Queen Station. He moved from Queen to East Hickory in 1926 and followed his chief hobby, carving.

Mrs. Tipton survives him, with the following children: Jay, of Warren; Florence Nosker, West Hickory; Lulu Felton, Washington, Pa.; Alice Carpenter, Starbuck; Alvin and Vernone, East Hickory; also one step-daughter, Mrs. Gaynell Gustafson, Warren; eight grandchildren, Martha and Merle Nosker, Gary, Kathy and Sue Tipton, Johnny and Karen Tipton, Mrs. Dawn McClellan of St. John's, Newfoundland; one great-grandson, Kenny McClellan; and two step-grandchildren, Sandra and Allan Gustafson. Besides these, he leaves a sister, Mrs. Jessie Haslet, East Hickory; with several nieces and nephews.

BENJAMIN H. TAYLOR

Final rites were held at nine o'clock this morning in Holy Redeemer church for Benjamin H. Taylor, 118 1/2 Conewango avenue, retired president of the Solar Electric Corporation and active sports figure in Warren for many years.

Father M. E. Dailey, pastor, celebrated the high mass of requiem and the following served as bearers for interment in St. Joseph's cemetery: Henry O. Walko, J. E. Leiding, Edwin Koebler, Dr. Charles Reed, S. M. McClure and P. C. Ostergard. A great many flowers surrounded the casket to bespeak the esteem and sympathy of a wide circle of acquaintances and fellow-sportsmen.

CLARENCE M. MAHOOD

Father M. E. Dailey, pastor, was celebrant for the requiem high mass held at Holy Redeemer church at 9:00 a. m. Tuesday for Clarence M. Mahood, 18 1/2 Elm street, veteran printer and well known local resident.

There were a great many persons in attendance for the rites and a profusion of flowers bespoke the sympathy of a wide circle. Interment followed in St. Joseph's cemetery, with Ted Berdine, Paul Lavery, Matthew Williams, Charles Shrubbs, Herald Sorensen and Elmer Walters as the bearers.

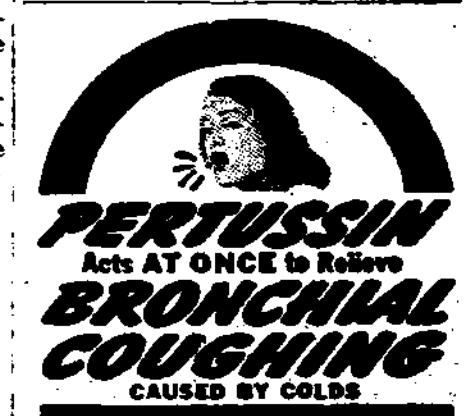

Chief Complanter Post, American Legion, was in charge of military honors at the graveside, the following officiating: Commander, Jack Barr; chaplain, Willis C. Lutzdahl; firing squad, James Torrance, Tony Conway, Jerry Wamman, James Senger, Bob Schatke, with James Casset as bugler for "Taps".

Attending from away were Mr. and Mrs. William Shrubbs, Jamestown, N. Y.; Walter Shrubbs, Beaver; Mr. and Mrs. George Chadwick, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Eisecker, Mrs. William Austell, Kane; Mrs. Park Dalton, Jazens City; Mrs. John DiPierro, Mrs. Joseph DiPierro, Ridgway; Mrs. Mary Rigard, St. Mary's.

COMPLETE ASTRONOMERS' CAMERA—A German company in the American sector of Berlin has announced completion of its first post-war camera for astronomers, the "Schmidt-Kamera." Construction of the instrument took one year. Showing stars of the 17th dimension, the camera will be able to make pictures over a period of several hours. An electrical automatic adjusting device moves the camera along precisely with the earth's motion.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE WORLD

IT'S AN OCCASION—To celebrate his first visit to New York, where his dad is starring in "Mid-Summer," Mark Stevens, Jr., center, had an extra portion of ice cream. Sharing the pre-matinee treat is Mark Stevens, right, and Richard Derr, also appearing on Broadway this season in another play.

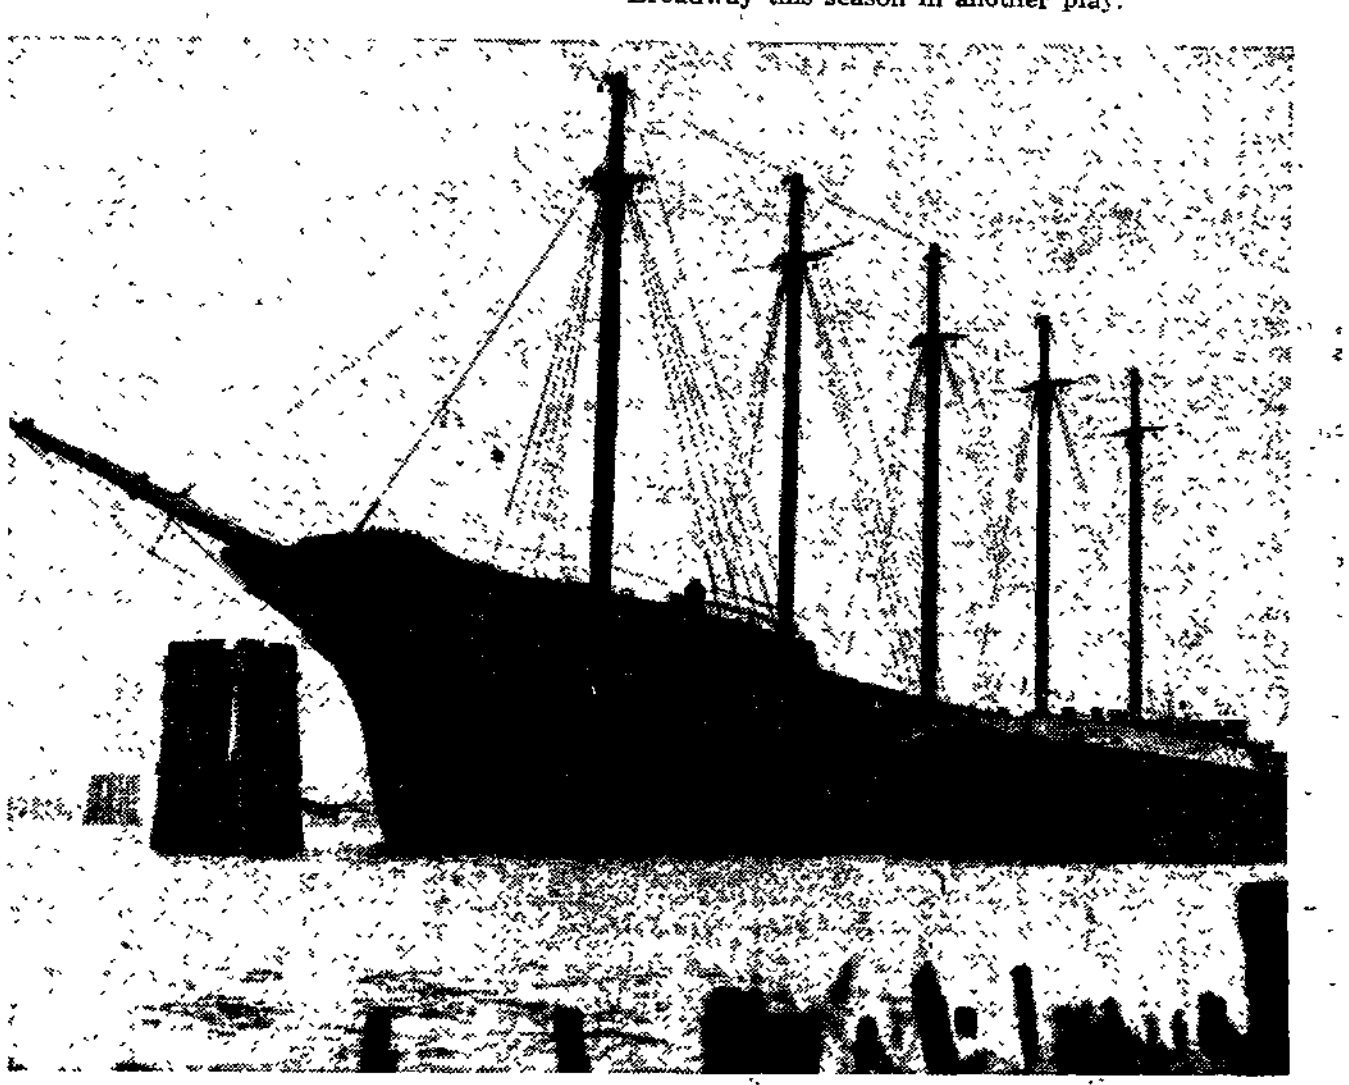

FILL-IN MOTHER—Blonde and blue-eyed, five-year-old Karin Webster poses with her shipboard "mother," Natalie Jackson, on arrival in New York aboard the Army transport General Patch. The little lady from Germany, was adopted by Cpl. Jack Webster, now stationed at Fort Sheridan, Ill., who is married to the girl's mother. Miss Jackson, a Red Cross worker, looked after Karin who wouldn't have been permitted to come over without an escort.

ALGERIAN MOOD—"Casbah" pedal pushers of black linen are smartly teamed with a black bra and an intriguing black and white sleeveless jacket. The chic and unusual outfit was modeled by Joan Bell at a fashion show in Miami Beach. It looks like just the thing for the lady.

GETTING THE BIRD—Four rare grey parrots are unconcerned by the fact that they are the center of attention as they flit about their cage in the lobby of an air terminal in Paris. These lusty beauties are part of an exhibition of rare birds.

FOR BARGAIN HUNTERS—The five-masted sailing ship "Carl Vinnen" lies in the harbor in Hamburg, Germany, awaiting its sale at auction this Spring. The 1827-ton old-liner was purchased.

LOVE ME, LOVE MY LION—When his neighbors objected to his pet baby mountain lion in Sacramento, Calif., Charles Hughes moved into the country with it, rather than part with the animal. Mrs. G. V. Henson and her two small children seem somewhat astonished at sight of Hughes' unusual pet as he strolls along a thoroughfare with the lion on a leash.

12 IN A ROW—During a break in rehearsals, these smiling showgirls take advantage of a row of empty orchestra seats to rest their tired limbs. They're appearing in a show at the Palladium in London, England, and they must be a great optical treat to tired businessmen who've never had it so good.

STILL THE SAME—In Dearborn, Mich., Col. Roscoe Turner's hair and famed mustache are graying, and he's just a wee bit heavier, right, but he hasn't changed much since the photo at left was taken in 1930. One of aviation's most outspoken proponents, Col. Turner holds eight international speed records. He operated the first commercial airfield and high speed airline.

"The Beautiful Allegheny Valley"

(By JOHN SAGE)

CHAPTER SIX

Now if you don't mind, we will assume our journey from Hedgehog Hollow. After passing through a strip of woods another valley presents itself with the gurgling brook known as Charlie Run, beside which J. P. Sitarik operates eight cabins adjacent to Dunn's eddy which contains a large body of water and is a popular fishing place. Nearby are neighbors who maintain year-round homes. One of these is the very nice appearing substantial home of the T. R. Martin family that occupies a plot on the river front. On the highway you will notice his mail box representing an old time Western wagon with a yoke of oxen he cleverly whitened out of wood hitched to it. Nearby is his neighbor the O. F. Rudolph family who occupy an admirable home which he himself built of native stone from the nearby hills including a garage of the same material.

Adjoining is the large Frank Suppa farm with its wide spread of river flats on which are located five cottages and the comfortable farm home, which the elderly couple appear to be enjoying, judging from my nice visit with them on their pleasant porch. I have a number of valued friends who are spendthrifts. "Oh not with the mighty dollar" but with their time well spent in the search and discovery of the numerous hidden beauties of nature, much of which is obscured from the casual fleeting glance, for nature is saturated with beauties, mysteries and wonders.

Many others there are who become engrossed in the interesting study of the wild life of our birds, animals and insects which include what scientists claim is the world's most valuable animal, the humble burrower in the soil, the "earth worm." Its coming is a sign of spring, beginning again its invaluable work of plowing, pulverizing, fertilizing and draining the soil. As many as fifty thousand earthworms may plow through the soil of a single acre.

During the year, they may bring as much as eighteen tons of new earth to the surface. Instead of legs the earthworm employs upward of a thousand bristles, and is equipped with eight bristle-hooks. These are used to grip the soil on all sides.

Today there is a tropical breeze astir while the air is invigorating and if you care to view astonishing rock formations, some the size of an average house resting at various angles on the hill sides, just scamper up one of these valleys and snoop around the hills a bit.

Except for the distant splash of a fish occasionally rising for an insect, the frequent croaking of a bullfrog and the soft steady lap of the water on the shore with now and then a belated auto speeding on the highway across the water, the valley was steeped in silence.

Resuming our journey, the sprawling Newbold estate of 1200 acres which almost one hundred years ago was known far and wide throughout this section of the country as an outstanding show place of exceeding interest, looms to view.

There is an extensive stretch of level ground resembling prairie land, on which was an Indian village in the latter part of the seventeenth century. Here have been found Indian graves some of which in late years have been excavated for historical purposes.

A forest of valuable timber climbs the hill side in the back ground. There are two unoccupied stone dwellings that were built in those early days. The decaying remains of a large water-powered grist mill with its big water wheel still surviving, is a sight worthy of your time. Located on a most attractive spot on the high river bank amidst the shadows and soft shade of a grove of beautiful old time trees is the old pretentious home.

Nearby is a sacred green spot that is closely circled with evergreen trees, which one can only view with solemn admiration for within the enclosure have been laid to rest the remains of Mrs. Newbold, the mother and two of her daughters, with appropriately engraved marble memorials.

As if to soothe one's more serious thoughts, the sunshine trickles through the gently swaying branches and dances upon the graves.

There is a cluster of farm buildings including a large red barn that is over a hundred years old and in very fair condition. It contains a number of very old horse drawn vehicles, saddles, harnesses and other interesting antiques. Still remaining is the earthen bank that retained the water in a two acre trout pond. August Gross, long associated with the operation of this property, has created a fond attachment of same. He has been a faithful employee of the family throughout the past forty-two years.

To further grace the estate is the Newbold Presbyterian Church built of native stone in the year 1835. It is well preserved and religious services are now regularly held there by Dr. W. J. Prout of Tidoum. The old Newbold cemetery is located on a plot of ground next to that which the church occupies.

I recently called at the Newbold mansion which is occupied by Esther and Daisy Newbold. I was cordially received and enjoyed a most interesting and pleasant visit with the added pleasure of seeing the gorgeously furnished home with antique furniture and countless other items of long ago splendor. The beautiful extensive snow white home of twenty-eight rooms was constructed of wood a hundred and twenty-five years ago, and is in a remarkable state of preservation. The architecture and style was in keeping with the most modern homes of that early period and might appropriately have been classed as a castle. Its artistic type with pleasing lines and fancy roomy verandas, is so beautifully blended in with its antiquated setting. It provides food for the thoughtful mind, particularly after one realizes how deep it all is steeped in truly faded eloquence.

THE VOICE OF LOVE

William Neubauer

Chapter 11

HISTORY spun the geography globe with a restless movement of her hand. Looking around the large, sunlit classroom with its new desks, big blackboards and beautiful colored maps, she found herself envying Grace Taylor, and the joshing words: "Principals' pet!" rose to her lips. But she didn't utter them. That which shattered a girl's peace of mind, that which constricted her throat, tied her nerves into knots, kept her sleepless although her burning eyes and aching head yearned for the balm of slumber, was something too serious to be joked about.

Then Grace appeared at last, slim and lovely in her tweed suit, her golden hair warm-toned in the sunshine. Ruth smiled at her and happily turned her mind to other things. "Any luck?"

"None," Grace perched on a corner of the desk. "Mr. Quince was apologetic in his pompous way, but the school, he announced, was in no position to sanction such an outing. There were questions. Suppose the boat sank? Suppose a child fell overboard and drowned? Or suppose a few of them got a bad case of sunburn?"

"Suppose?" Grace shrugged. "I daresay he's right, though. Just a picnic on the beach will have to do, I'm afraid."

"They'll be disappointed," Ruth reflected aloud. "The little brats really worked. I was so proud of Johnny Smith in particular!"

"Still..." Ruth nodded. She drew on her white gloves, picked her handbag from the desk and walked with Grace down the long, silent hall to the exit of Building Two. Completing only her second year at the school, she still found it a novelty, in June, to be able to hear birds singing on the lawn and to be able to walk anywhere along the asphalt paths without fear of being run down by some boy on a bicycle. She shook her head.

"Feel a year older?"

"A year richer. How about you?"

"The same. Are we sentimentalists, Grace, or are children really as wonderful as we think they are?"

"They're grand!" said Grace firmly. "A person's lucky if her work throws her into contact with children. They're so quick, so lively, so bright! And all their illusions are still intact!"

RUTH interrupted. Her mind was a grasshopper sort of mind. It couldn't remain in one place very long this afternoon. It had to hop from here to there if only to keep from dwelling on Dan, the impact Dan had upon her life.

"I'll be back next year," she said flatly, dismissing the subject. "That's to say, if the campaign this summer leaves me with energy enough to teach."

There was much that Grace could have told her about that. Interested in ascertaining the chances Ephraim Carlisle had to be elected mayor, Grace Taylor had undertaken a private poll. Each of her friends had been asked: "Luchetti or Carlisle, a community hospital, or the old system. Three out of four had snapped: 'Luchetti. At least he has sense enough to recognize there's a limit to the spending people can do.' But Grace was a kind, understanding creature who never in her life had added agony to agony. She didn't now. 'It'll be an interesting summer, no doubt. I'm staying in Golden City, incidentally.' She paused. Then a beautiful flush crept up her fair skin all the way to her cute, rounded forehead. 'I'll have to get the new house in order, you see.'"

"The what?" Grace made light of it. "Oh, Yelbert and I decided we might as well battle in our own home as here at the school. We thought we'd give marriage a whirl."

Ruth swallowed. She felt half-suffocated, and had to inhale deeply several times. All the waiting over? The pain, the horrible pain of not knowing, at an end? "How wonderful! You must let me give you a shower."

"You goose," chortled forthright Grace Taylor, "why do you suppose you're the first to be told?"

Questions rose to Ruth's confused, milling mind. When had Grace decided? How had she finally found the courage to make the plunge? Would she continue to teach? Did she think it wise to re-possess all her hopes for happiness in the hands of a human being?

But a door banged shut in the Administration Building. "Hi!" hailed Yelbert Quince. He came toward them with his long strides, the cuffs of his trousers flapping about his briskly moving ankles. Meeting Grace's glowing purple eyes, she discovered Grace wouldn't be annoyed if she were to be left alone with Mr. Quince. "I'll give you a ring," she whispered to Grace, then whirled and went quickly to her Ford.

A rueful grin greeted her. "It took you a long time," complained Bob O'Brien. "I thought you'd never come out."

While she stared, goggle-eyed, he opened the door and reached for her hand. Before she could recover her wits he pulled her into the car and had the engine purring under the hood. "Thought," he explained, "that it was time I had a look at you."

This, she thought, is being ridiculous. She met his gaze coolly. "I happen to be busy, Bob. In the event you haven't been reading the papers, the hotel's doing a rushing business."

"Oh, I read the papers from time to time. You mustn't think that farmers don't take an interest in the world. By the way, congratulate your father for me, will you?" He ignored the road that led to Golden City. He struck east through the county seat of Belfast to Highway 1. Presently they were in among the hills, taking the side road down through Peterman's Canyon. There they found mid-summer tem-

Chapter 12

HE grinned. "Like it? This was always one of your favorite places."

She began to relax. She began to find it perfectly proper to be with Bob even though he'd behaved so badly. With eager eyes she searched the woods until she found the "castle" walls. "There it is, Bob! Bob, remember when Rod and Johnny and you built it while I kept guard against Indians?"

He nodded. A more perceptive person would have noticed that he was beginning to relax, too. He said, in nostalgic tones: "Those were the good days, weren't they?"

They'd been that, she remembered. She looked at Bob's quiet, sun-browned face. So soft were his gray eyes that they reminded her of a little pool they'd found one day where white egrets were drinking and ducks were swimming and quacking in great contentment.

She looked away from him shyly. "Where are we going, Bob? I promised Maggi I'd help her this evening."

"I thought you'd like to see the farm."

She said moodily. "I've missed the rides, Bob. So has Nancy. Don't you think you've been a bit cruel? You shouldn't have made poor Nancy pay the penalty, too."

"I've been busy."

"Not that busy."

He chuckled. "Success and more success, you might say. I picked up another fifty acres."

That was really big news. Eventually Bob wanted to switch to raising beef, Black Angus, no less. To do it on a large scale, land was required, much land. The extra fifty acres were a big step toward the realization of his penultimate dream.

The ultimate dream? She wet her lips nervously. She sensed that this ride was a kind of step he was taking toward realizing that one, too. But she couldn't feel annoyed with him now as she had the afternoon Mr. Hufford had come back from his first day as a commercial fisherman. Too much had happened since that afternoon. She had a better understanding of Bob's feelings now than she had ever had before.

"Congratulations," she said softly. "And I want to see it soon. But not today, Bob."

His jaw tightened. But his voice remained soft, pleasant as he asked: "Is Dan Curtis coming back?"

"Some time this evening, I think."

The truth seemed to astonish her. She guessed that he'd half-expected a lie.

"He's got some interesting ideas that follow. One of these days I'd like to meet him."

She bridled. "I won't have you fighting him, Bob. That would be foolish. It would accomplish nothing."

"Have I ever fought?"

SHE felt silly. Yet it gave her satisfaction to know that already she was beginning to fight for Dan. That was better by far than just stewing about him. There'd been too much of that, lately.

"Sorry, Bob. Sorry for so many things."

"I won't give up," he said gruffly. "If that's what you hope to have me do, you'll be disappointed." He shook his head, as though trying to clear it. "None of this makes sense. What sort of magic does that SUV work? You were always a cool one, too darned cool and collected, if you ask me. Then along he comes, you date him a few times, and there you are with a crush on him. No. It just doesn't make sense."

"It does to me, Bob."

"Rumor has it that Doctor and Dan Curtis had a scrap. Ruth, Rumor has it that they'll fight to the finish."

"She was aware of those rumors. She'd wished, hearing talk, that Dan and his uncle hadn't gone to San Francisco on business. She'd wanted to go straight to Dan and ask what had been discussed, and why he'd shouted in the hall: 'It's war!' She'd not believed it when Maggi had told her about that. But her mother had announced it was so, and of course she'd had to believe it then. But why was it to be 'war'?"

"They're doctors. They may have had a disagreement about terms and work, but I imagine they'll work things out. Actually, each needs the other. Bob, Doctor needs a young man to take the load from his shoulders, and Dan needs the advice and guidance of Doctor. You'll see. They'll work something out."

He stopped the car. He couldn't believe his ears or his eyes. "Ruth, you're a child. You're a child living outside the world in dreams. Don't you know what's been happening?"

"What's been happening?"

"It was printed in this afternoon's paper. Dan Curtis has come out flatly against a community hospital, and Doctor has come out flatly against a private hospital. Why, when I was on Main Street that was all that was being discussed. You idiot, the 'war's' already begun."

Boston-Milwaukee Franchise Shift Hangs in the Balance As Moguls Meet in St. Pete

St. Petersburg, Fla. (AP)—The Boston-Milwaukee franchise shift hung in the balance today as the National League and American Association met to vote on the transfer.

Owner Lou Perini was confident he would get approval to move his Braves into the minor league territory where he already operates a farm club.

"Somebody has to tell me why it isn't a good move," he said. "If they can show me it would be detrimental to baseball, I'll go along. But I won't be put off by any talk about this being too late to move."

Perini said he had contacted all National League owners, except Phil Wrigley of Chicago and John Galbreath of Pittsburgh. He said he had found no opposition.

However, Bill Veeck thought he had seven clubs on his side in his attempt to move the Browns to Baltimore. When he was defeated Monday afternoon, 5-2, he had only the votes of the Cleveland Indians and Chicago White Sox.

In the National League, a unanimous vote is necessary to approve transfer of a franchise. One Actual comparisons of the 3 leading makes of trucks show that Dodge alone gives you the big plus values listed below... values that can save you hundreds of dollars over the life of your truck! In these cost-conscious days, trucks are bought on facts... on proof, not promises. And we can prove that the just-announced Dodge trucks are the least expensive over the long haul. Stop by and learn why! Get the facts and you'll get a Dodge!

Of the 3 leading makes, only Dodge "Job-Rated" trucks give you...

7 GREAT ENGINES, with 100 to 171 h.p.—3 engines brand-new. Of the 3 leading manufacturers, no one offers as many engines as Dodge.

TRUCK-O-MATIC TRANSMISSION with gýrol Fluid Drive, for the best in shift-free driving. Available in ½- and ¾-ton models.

SUPERSAFE BRAKES of the advanced dual-primary type in 1- thru 4-ton trucks. Of the "Big 3," only Dodge offers these brakes.

More power in the 1½- and 2-ton ranges than the other 2 leaders.

More pick-up bodies than the other 2 leaders, including new 116"-wheelbase ¾-ton pick-up.

Greatest ½-ton-panel payload and cubic capacity of the 3 leaders.

Fluid coupling, for smoother traction in ½-, ¾- and 1-ton models, offered only by Dodge.

2 fuel filters on all models to assure cleaner fuel and a cleaner engine.

Floating oil intake selects clean oil at top; avoids sediment at bottom of crankcase.

Water-distributing tube on all models directly cools valve seats... means longer valve life.

Exhaust valve seat inserts on all models for better valve seating, longer engine life.

4-ring pistons on all engines save oil, upkeep.

Independent parking brake on all models is simple, efficient, powerful.

Riveted Cyclebond brake linings last longer... no rivets to score brake drums.

Oriflow shock absorbers on ½-, ¾- and 1-ton models give smoother riding, greater driver control on roughest roads.

High-strength rear axle shafts on all models are shot-peened for extra durability.

Better balanced weight distribution for extra payload.

Many features—just adopted by other leading makes—have been standard on Dodge trucks for years!

Observers Look for Big Things From 28-Year-Old Cincinnati First Sacker

By The Associated Press

This may be the year big Ted Kluszewski of Cincinnati will blossom out as one of major league baseball's greatest hitters. At least, all signs point in that direction.

Kluszewski pounded out two homers and a single, good for five runs, yesterday as Cincinnati defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 7-6, at Clearwater, Fla.

The 28-year-old Redleg first baseman finished third among National League batters in 1952 with a .320 average. But veteran observers, among them Cincinnati Manager Rogers Hornsby, believe Ted can do a lot better.

In other games, old-fashioned slug-fests were the order of the day.

At Orlando, the Brooklyn Dodgers collected 17 hits, among them a home run by Pee Wee Reese, and the Senators 15, including doubles by Jim Busby, Mickey Vernon and Eddie Yost.

Les Moss' homer with two mates aboard climaxed a two-out six run rally in the ninth inning and gave the St. Louis Browns a 9-6 win over the New York Giants. In the top half of the inning, the Giants had taken the lead with a five run uprising. Vic Wertz also homered for the Browns.

The Cleveland Indians tallied in the 10th inning on singles by Jim Lemon and Bob Kennedy to beat the Chicago White Sox, 7-6. The Indians sent the game into overtime by tying the score in the ninth on Harry Simpson's triple and Larry Doby's single. Lemon also hit for the circuit while Jim Rivera connected for the Chisox.

In another extra-inning game, the Boston Red Sox went 14 frames before edging the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-5. Second baseman Johnny Merson's double drove home Al Zarilla with the winning run.

At Bradenton, a two-run double by rookie infielder Harry Hanebrink in the eighth inning gave the Boston Braves a 5-2 triumph over the world champion New York Yankees.

In a night game, the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Cuban All-Stars, 3-2. Sonny Senerchia's three-run homer in the sixth inning accounted for all of the Pirates' runs.

GARLAND

Garland—Mrs. Arch Bristow has returned from New York City, where she has been visiting her youngest daughter, Mrs. Tulipan, and family.

The February birthday party, held in the community building, included games and music for entertainment. Birthday cakes and cards were special treats for those members having February anniversaries.

The John Radecki family, who left recently for Arizona, writes relatives they are not entirely satisfied with their new location.

Mrs. Ray McChesney had the misfortune to cut her hands so badly while at work at the Garland Manufacturing Co. that it was necessary to take her to the Warren hospital for treatment.

Mrs. Moore was honored by a party held in the Garland Inn, the occasion being her birthday. A large birthday cake was enjoyed, along with other festivities.

John Casper is working for Tony Stec in his mill, having quit his Corby job.

Little Johnnie Clancy, son of the late John Clancy, has been accepted into the Boy Choir at Warren. He and his sister have been making their home with Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Clancy while their mother has been hospitalized.

Sustaining Pivot Could Win Pennant for Phils—O'Neill

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

CLEARWATER, Fla.—(NEA)—The Phillies need a second baseman as badly as the Indians require a shortstop.

"Give us a sustaining pivot and we easily could win the pennant," says Steve O'Neill, "just adequate second basing, that's all."

There is no finer pitching than that provided by the Philadelphia Nationals' staff headed by Roberts, Simmons and Drews, handcuff kings from way back.

Manager O'Neill feels that Earl Torgeson gives his club the necessary added left-handed thump and he runs like a frightened striped ape. Stout Steve has reason to believe that the bespectacled first baseman was dissatisfied with what were the brutal Braves.

Elsewhere the grown-up Whiz Kids of 1950 are as solid as the Chase National Bank.

Only at second base is a hole beginning to show.

It was suggested that with Alvin Dark switching to second base, the Giants might trade Davey Williams, but Bob Carpenter insists the Phils have as good as that. O'Neill, the old catcher, violently disagrees with his young owner, yet adds that little Williams is hardly his type of second baseman.

O'NEILL is trying Jack Lohrke and Tommy Glavinio at second base, has some simmering hope for the Sacramento Italian.

Connie Ryan played all 154 games at second base last season. He's ringwise, but is slow and tires and isn't going to pick up his feet and reflexes any faster at 33. Last season easily could have been the kid's last gift.

Stating his case, simply, O'Neill leads with the pitchers—Roberts, Simmons and Drews.

"I'll pitch them in that order right through the season," he says. "The fourth man will come from Steve Ridzik and Jim Konstanty. Howie Fox knows how to pitch, but hasn't shown it, and how long can you wait? Andy Hansen will relieve."

As previously related, the job is to find or otherwise locate a second baseman to go with Shortstop Granny Hamner. Third Baseman Puddin'head Jones is a more formidable swatter than he was last trip.

The outfield is set with Ennis, Ashburn, Wyrostek, Mel Clark and Nicholson, the latter trio sharing right and serving as pinch-hitters.

farm in Garland. This is one of the most attractive and desirable properties in this vicinity.

Mrs. Rowland's store and gas station has also changed hands.

Elmer Duck was gored in the head by one of his dairy cows which necessitated 25 sutures. He was treated in the Warren hospital.

Mary Zolke has suffered a stroke. Her friends sincerely hope she will soon be improved.

Mr. Kellogg, of the Kellogg farm, Ralph Pike and Seymour Upton were recently in Ohio on business.

Chas. Briggs, Sr., remains seriously ill with pneumonia in the Warren hospital and members of his family are spending much time at his bed side. His many friends in this vicinity are hoping for his recovery.

Rotate

To get the longest possible tread wear your tires should be rotated every 5000 miles. Choice of 3 methods

Inspect

The smallest cut may slice away half a tire's life. Occasionally a sharp object will cut a tire but these need not become serious if promptly removed.

Inflate

Under-inflation causes abnormal flexing and develops a high degree of internal heat. An over-inflated tire has a tendency to bounce or "chatter" and results in rapid wear.

Officers for Next Term Are Chosen By Lodge of Elks

Fred Lenker was chosen exalted ruler of the Warren Lodge of Elks for the ensuing term at the annual meeting held last evening in the club house at eight o'clock. Other new officers, who will be installed with Mr. Lenker at the first meeting in April, are the following:

Leading Knight—Frank Mason.
Loyal Knight—Joseph Gobliger.
Lecturing Knight—Richard Schumacher.
Secretary—Ross Ruhlman.
Treasurer—Claude Schindler.
Tiler—Ronald Frederick.
Trustee—A. A. Albaugh.
Representative to Grand Lodge—Fred Lenker; alternate, C. T. Berdine.

Representatives to state convention—Frank Mason, Joseph Gobliger and Dr. D. A. Smith; alternates, Ray Weigle, Larry Linder and Jack Culbertson.

Announcement was made by Exalted Ruler Jack MacDonald that the installation April 7th will be in charge of a staff to be appointed by the district deputy grand exalted ruler.

Attention of members was called to the meeting of North District to be held with Johnsonburg next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. It is expected a large delegation will be present from Warren.

Educational Program Meeting This Evening

Dr. O. H. Aurand, professor of education at The Pennsylvania State College, will be the consultant at a meeting of the Pennsylvania Cooperative Program in Educational Administration in the council chamber of the Municipal Building tonight at 7:30. In addition to the committee representing the Warren public schools, delegates from Jamestown, N. Y., Kane, Ridgway, and Bradford schools will be present.

Warren's members on the program have previously met and discussed a study report issued by Roy J. Haring, the program director of the Cooperative Program. As a result of their discussion they have listed questions and problems they wish to bring up at the meeting this evening.

Those from Warren in this statewide program are Carl E. Whipple, superintendent of schools; Gerald M. Newton, director of instruction and curriculum; Russell Hanson, a member of the Board of Education, Mrs. Roger Olson, president of the Community Parent-Teachers Association, and a lay member of the committee; Mrs. Donald McComas and Paul Harrington, also lay representatives.

World War Marine Vet Dies Suddenly; Funeral on Friday

Richard Elmer Bloomgren, Warren Tank Car Company employee and Marine veteran of World War II, died suddenly at 2:20 p. m. Tuesday at his home, 21 Dunham street, Sheffield, following a short illness.

Taken ill while at work, Mr. Bloomgren left for his home and died soon after reaching there.

Born at Loleta, in Forest County, on May 26, 1907, he had lived in Sheffield for the past six years. Serving with the U. S. Marine Corps during World War II, he saw 16 months of active duty in the Central Pacific Area.

Surviving are his wife, Ruth E. Bloomgren, and three children: Patricia, Martin and Sandra; one brother, Leroy A. Bloomgren, St. Marys; four sisters, Mrs. Frank Detsch, St. Marys; Mrs. Raphael G'Connell, Johnsonburg; Mrs. Hjalmer Anderson, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. Cedora Edwards, in the state of Indiana.

Removal has been made to the Borden Funeral Home, Sheffield, where friends will be received at the regular calling hours, starting at seven o'clock this evening. Services will be held there at 2:00 p. m. Friday, conducted by the Methodist minister, Rev. Grant L. Mottern, and followed by interment in Barnes cemetery.

Young Boy Is Killed After Easter Purchase

Windber, Pa. (P)—Seven-year-old Terry Allen Chippie's pleasure in a chocolate Easter bunny caused his death last night in this Central Pennsylvania community.

Terry had just bought the bunny in a store across the street from his home. He was in such a hurry to show the bunny to his parents that he dashed out of the store and headed across the street. An auto struck him, half way across. He died two hours later in Windber hospital of skull, jaw and leg fractures.

Deadlock Over Lie's Post May End

minister to chief U. N. delegate as he embarked for Moscow after the death of Stalin, is expected to bring back new instructions from the government of Prime Minister Georgi Malenkov.

Zorin, sitting in for Russia at the two Security Council meetings held thus far on the question of a new secretary general vetoed both Canada's Lester B. Pearson, who polled a nine-vote majority, and U. S.-backed Carlos P. Romulo of the Philippines. Russia's candidate, Polish Foreign Minister Stanislaw Skrzyszewski, got only Zorin's vote.

Rapid Progress on Jefferson School; Lights at Lacy up next, Beaty's lighting will be handled through the enlargement program, and the high school system will be retained until a new building is erected.

When the former Johnson building was dismantled, unit ventilators were preserved and are being used at Lacy, replacing those of older style. Much of this work is being done by Jerome Paul, maintenance manager for the district, with the assistance of William Smith, while Claude Feiro, head custodian for the district, is lending a hand with the lighting program.

Hear Dr. Haas Give Data As Hearings End

"To the extent that we permit adjoining states and industry to filter from us our better trained teachers because of higher salaries, to that extent we increase to the commonwealth the cost on a unit basis of those who remain in Pennsylvania."

In discontinuing further hearings, the legislative committee agreed on a plan to introduce all of the economy bills in the Senate.

INFANT HOWELL
Robert Joe Howell, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Mearl Howell, of Garfield, died at four p. m. Monday in Corry Memorial Hospital at the age of eight days. Besides his parents, he is survived by a brother and three sisters: James Richard, Nancy Carol, Trudy Elaine, and Susie Mae; his paternal grandfather, Daniel Howell; and his maternal grandparents, Francis Moore, of Garfield, and Mrs. Mabel Wilcox, of Corry.

Removal has been made to the Bracken-Keating Funeral Home in Corry where a short prayer service will be held Thursday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Burial will be made in Spring Creek cemetery.

KATHERINE M. NELSON
Services in memory of Mrs. Katherine MacDonald Nelson, Warren RD 2, will be held at St. Joseph's church at 9:00 a. m. Friday, with interment following in the veterans' plot in Oakland cemetery. Friends are being received at the regular calling hours at the Leo D. Gibson Funeral Home.

Mrs. Nelson was the widow of Albert Nelson and leaves two daughters, Mrs. Katherine N. Palmer, Jamestown, and Victoria N. Porter, wife of Robert F. Porter, Warren; also six grandchildren.

KIWANIS MEETING
Joe Brown, of the J. C. Penney Co. store, was elected a member of the board of directors of the Warren Kiwanis club at the luncheon-meeting held Wednesday noon at the YWCA. He fills the vacancy created by the resignation of Nevin Wolfe, Metzger-Wright Co., who is being transferred back to Indiana, Pa. Mr. Wolfe thanked members of the club for their whole-hearted cooperation since coming here three years ago, and spoke of the pleasure he and Mrs. Wolfe have enjoyed during their residence in Warren. Dr. Homer Lewis was in charge of the program which included a colored movie presented under the auspices of the Warren County Cancer Society. A brief round table discussion followed the showing of the picture.

AKELEY

Mrs. Harry Swartzfager and Mrs. Alva Seymour, Warren, called on Mrs. Edward Miller Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Randall attended a family birthday party in honor of Mrs. Delbert Werle at her home in Warren Sunday afternoon.

Beaty Citizenship League Ceremonies

In a belated report of special ceremonies held in Beaty Junior High School, it is learned that Dave Fuelhart is the new president of the school's Citizenship League.

A special assembly was held for his inauguration and the presentation of Silver "B" awards to the following:

Chairman for the assembly was Margaret Erickson, with Sandra Erickson reading the devotions. The oath of office was administered by Donna Gary, secretary, and Mr. Hetrick presented Dan Walton, of the YMCA, who spoke to the assembly and presented the awards.

March 20 Deadline For Civil Service Exams

March 20 will be the deadline for State Civil Service Commission applications for a series of jobs in Rural Child Welfare Division offices throughout the Commonwealth.

Howell M. Becht, Commission director, reported that written examinations will be held April 11 at Altoona, Harrisburg, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh and Wilkes-Barre. The division is a component of the State Welfare Department.

Jobs are: Junior Psychologist, $3870 to $4596; Child Welfare Secretary, Class I, $3870 to $4596; Child Welfare Secretary, Class II, $3528 to $3870; Child Welfare Secretary, Class III, $3330 to $3528; Senior Child Welfare Worker, $3330 to $3528; Child Welfare Worker, $2970 to $3330; Junior Child Welfare Worker, $2562 to $2970; and Case Supervisor, $3870 to $4596.

Becht pointed out that women only may apply for the posts of Child Welfare Secretaries, Classes II and III, Child Welfare Worker and Junior Child Welfare Worker. He added that the post of Junior Psychologist exists solely at Harrisburg.

The director said that under the division's operating plan Delaware is classified as a Class 1A county, while Beaver, Fayette, Cambria and Washington are Class I counties.

He added that Class II counties are Adams, Bedford, Bradford, Clearfield, Columbia, Huntingdon, Indiana, Lycoming, Mifflin and Tioga. Class III counties are Snyder, Susquehanna, Union and Wayne.

Applications may be obtained from the State Civil Service Commission at Harrisburg, state and county offices of the Department of Public Assistance, Pennsylvania State Employment Service local offices, state office and state stores of the Pennsylvania Liquor Control Board, and the state and county offices of the Rural Child Welfare Division.
